

Society for Environmental Graphic Design

The global community of people working at the intersection of communication design and the built environment.

Visual Communications principals have been members since the late 1980's/early 1990's - attending yearly conferences, and maintaining relationships with members in similar professions throughout the country.